Brian Leatherwood is a dedicated financial advisor with a passion for helping individuals and families navigate the complexities of retirement and long-term financial planning. Since beginning his career with Edward Jones in 2006, directly after earning his degree in Finance with a minor in Accounting from The University of Texas at Austin, Brian has focused on building trusted, lifelong partnerships with his clients.

He understands that retirement planning often intersects with other major financial goals—such as purchasing a home or vehicle, funding education, securing life insurance, preparing for long-term care, and addressing estate considerations. Brian and his team use a structured, client-focused process to identify each client’s unique financial needs and develop personalized strategies that are both effective and tax-efficient. Brian is deeply committed to providing the highest level of service and building lasting relationships based on trust, transparency, and a clear understanding of what matters most to each client.

Outside the office, Brian enjoys the outdoors and values time spent with his wife, Kendl, and their two children, Grey and Ainsley. A proud member of the Kingwood community, he has coached both baseball and soccer for his children and finds great joy in watching their personal and athletic development. One of the family's favorite traditions is gathering on their back patio to enjoy music and dinner together.

Brian works alongside Dawn Sharber, the team’s Branch Office Administrator, who brings over 15 years of experience in financial services and banking. Known for her attentiveness and genuine care for clients, Dawn plays a vital role in ensuring every client feels supported. Outside of work, Dawn cherishes time with her husband, James, their two daughters, and especially her granddaughter.
