Melissa Crabtree serves as the Lifestyle Director at The Terraces at Kingwood Town Center, where she creates engaging programs and events that enrich the lives of residents and foster a vibrant community atmosphere. With a combined eight years of experience at the community—two under its current management—Melissa has built strong relationships with residents and their families, bringing creativity, compassion, and dedication to her role.

Her passion for serving seniors is reflected in her ability to plan meaningful activities that promote connection, joy, and well-being. Melissa has also been an active participant in Serving Houston Seniors for the past year, furthering her commitment to supporting the senior community beyond her own community's walls.

Outside of work, Melissa enjoys traveling, spending time with her family, crafting, and visiting beaches as often as possible. Married for 34 years, she is the proud mother of three adult children and values creating meaningful experiences both personally and professionally.
